What parents tell us about childcare in Carlisle

In 2010, we carried out a sample survey to explore the opinions and experiences of parents across Cumbria about childcare. Whilst we made sure that all footprints were represented in the survey, it is not possible to show the results at this level, since the numbers of respondents are too small to be meaningful. However, we can explore the results for the local authority area of Carlisle, to see if there are any areas where there are statistically significant differences to the results for the overall county. Put simply, statistically significant differences are those that occur because there is a real difference in opinion, and not just as a result of chance.

Whilst it is not possible to represent the results of the whole survey in this footprint report, some of the findings are detailed below. Findings are only detailed if the results for Carlisle are statistically significant when compared to the county as a whole.

Parents were asked where they got their information about childcare in the local area. In Carlisle, a larger proportion than the county average indicated that they got their information from local newspapers (20% v 15%).

Parents were asked to indicate whether they agreed or disagreed with a number of statements about childcare. When asked about whether parents use childcare because they are working or studying, we have developed figures representing the proportion 'net agree'. This is simply the result of taking away the number of respondents who disagree with the statement from those who agree with it. In Carlisle, the net agree figure is 48%, which is significantly higher than the figure for the county which is only 43%.

When exploring whether parents feel that using childcare helps their children socialise, the proportion in Carlisle that strongly agree is 31%. This is higher than the 26% recorded for the county.

When exploring whether parents feel that childcare is too expensive, Carlisle respondents had 66% who agreed with this statement. This is higher than the figure for the county of 61%.

The net agree figure for Carlisle when looking at whether there is a good choice of childcare in the local area is 11% - yet the figure for Cumbria is only 1%. Similarly, the net agree figure for whether it is easy to find childcare in Carlisle is 8%, yet is only 3% countywide.

There are more parents in Carlisle who indicate that they agree that there is sufficient childcare in Cumbria for children with additional needs (6% v 4%).

Looking specifically at how easy it is to get to childcare in the local area, 8% agree with this statement in Carlisle, with only 5% countywide.

Number of places for free entitlement for 3 and 4 year olds

All children aged 3 & 4 are entitled to 15 hours per week of free early learning and childcare from the school term after they turn 3, for 38 weeks per year. Table 5 shows the number of places available in Carlisle Rural, and the number of providers who can offer the entitlement.

Table 5: Free entitlement for 3 & 4 year olds

Number of Places		Number of Providers		Number of 3 & 4 in Carlisle Rural	Place Ratio in Carlisle Rural	Place Ratio in Cumbria
Nursery Class/ School	Private Voluntary and Independant Provison	Nursery Class/ School	Private Voluntary and Independant Provison
239	262	9	9	493	1:1	1:1

The table shows that in Carlisle Rural there are 501 places for 3 and 4 year olds to access free entitlement. This is through 18 providers – 9 of which are nursery classes/schools, with the remaining 9 being private provision. The population figures show that there are 493 children who are aged 3 & 4. However, the actual amount of children who require places will be slightly less, since children only qualify for the funding the term after their third birthday, and others may still be aged 4 but will be attending school. However, for the purposes of calculating a ratio, the total number is used. The ratio of places to children requiring places in Carlisle Rural is 1:1 This is equivalent to the overall figure for Cumbria.

Acorn Category Descriptors

Wealthy Achievers

These are some of the most successful and wealthy people in the UK. They live in wealthy, high status rural, semi-rural and urban areas of the country. Middle aged or older people dominate, although some neighbourhoods contain large numbers of well off families with school age children. These people tend to live in large houses with four or more bedrooms. They are usually well educated and most are employed in managerial and professional occupations or own their own businesses. Car ownership is high, with many households running two or more cars. Incomes are high as are savings and investment levels.

Urban Prosperity

These are well educated and mostly prosperous people living in major cities and towns. They include both wealthy older people and highly educated young professionals. This category includes some well educated but less affluent individuals such as students and graduates in their first jobs.

Comfortably Off

Most people in this category are comfortably off. They may not be wealthy, but they have very few financial worries. Younger singles and couples, just starting out on their careers, are the dominant group in some areas. Others have mostly stable families and empty nesters, especially in suburban or semi rural locations. Comfortably off pensioners living in retirement areas around the coast or in the countryside form the other main group in this category. Most people own their own home, and homes are a mix of detached and semi detached. Employment tends to be a mix of professional and managerial, clerical and skilled occupations. Educational qualifications tend to be in line with the national average.

Moderate Means

Many people in this category are still employed in traditional, blue collar occupations. Others have become employed in service and retail jobs as the employment landscape has changed. In better off areas, incomes are in line with the national average and people have reasonable standards of living. However, in other areas, where qualifications are low, incomes can fall below the national average. There are also some pockets of unemployment and long term illness. Most housing is terraced, with two or three bedrooms and largely owner occupied. It includes many former council houses, bought by their tenants in the 1980's.

Hard Pressed

This category contains the poorest areas of the UK. Unemployment is well above the national average. Levels of qualifications are low and those in work are likely to be employed in unskilled occupations. Household incomes are low and there are high levels of long term illness in some areas. Housing is a mix of low-rise estates, with terraced or semi-detached houses and purpose built flats including some high rise blocks. Properties tend to be small and there is a lot of overcrowding. Over 50% of the housing is rented from the council or social landlords. These people are experiencing the most difficult social and economical conditions in the whole country and have limited opportunity to improve their circumstances.
