BARROW-JAMES FREEL MEMORIAL

Memorial-LEADING SEAMAN JAMES 'JIMMY' FREEL CGM 1919-1965 DECORATED WORLD WAR II CHARIOTEER

Plaque-James (Jimmy) Freel CGM

James Michael Freel , born at Hindpool in Barrow on 13 December 1919, joined the Royal Navy on 9 June 1936 and became Barrow's highest decorated war hero of World War II.

After serving as a gunner on the battleships HMS 'Revenge', HMS 'Royal Sovereign' and HMS 'Rodney' he volunteered in May 1942 for a "Special/Hazardous Mission" and trained as a "Charioteer Driver" (aka "Human Torpedo) assigned to the 10th Submarine Flotilla in Malta to prepare for/Operation Principal targeting enemy ships in Palermo, Sicily.

On 29 December 1942, Freel and Sub Lieutenant RG Dove RNVR, with Chariot No. XVI, embarked on submarine HMS "Torpedo" to attack ships in/Palermo/harbour where they sank the Italian troopship 'Viminate' after which they made their way ashore where they were taken prisoners and sent to/Prisoner of War camps in mainland Italy.

On 9 September 1943 (after 9 months as a POW) Freel escaped and fought with the local Partisans until December 1943, when he rejoined the Allied/Forces and was repatriated to the UK.

On 18 April 1944 James Freel was gazetted for the Conspicuous Gallantry Medal (CGM) for his "courage, determination and devotion to duty".

He saw further action in the Far East and on 2nd June 1945, he was Mentioned in Despatches for "bravery, coolness of action and devotion to duty"/in the rescue of survivors from a burning tanker near Japan.

He left the Royal Navy on 6 January 1950 after 12 years service and signed on the supply ship RRS 'Discovery I' bound for the British Antarctic Territories.

On 2 January 1951 he signed off in Melbourne, Australia, where he lived until his untimely death on 13 November 1965

SAWREY Flags

On the East Wall of the South Crossing are 2 Union Flags.

These were donated to the church in 1956 by Revd Charles Cecil Dickson (who is buried in the Churchyard). He was a WW1 Chaplain with 66th Division, 198th Brigade, 2nd East Lancashire Regiment.

The Large Flag was loaned by him to General HQ in France to celebrate the signing of the armistice, as they were not allowed to keep a large flag. It was also spread on the table at one of the monthly renewals of the armistice until the signing of the Treaty of Versailles.

The small flag was carried by Revd Dickson throughout his war service and used at all Church Parades he held.

The Cross is in the form of a 7th century Anglian cross and is made of Staintondale limestone. It was designed by Austin & Paley of Lancaster, made by Mr AO Thorp of Lancaster and carved by Mr F Birch of Lancaster & Lindale in Cartmel.

Unveilings were 11/11/1921 by Richard Cavendish and 12/10/1947 by Sir Ian Fraser, the local MP.

The ornamentation is stylistic and is described as such-

FRONT FACE

The central spiral wheels typify Eternity.

The pomegranate signifies Glory and the pomegranate seed The Resurrection

REAR FACE

The Vine signifies Life

The Bird plucking the fruit signifies The human soul feeding on eternal life.

The Monogram of X and P (the first two letters of the Name of Christ) is the "laburum" or standard of Constantine, the 1st Christian Emperor. Carved upon the standard is the motto "In hoc signo vinces" which translates as "In this sign you will conquer"

GRANGE-EVAN ARTHUR LEIGH MEMORIAL-TRANSCRIPTION

To the Glory of God/and in loving memory of/Evan Arthur Leigh/of Yewbarrow Hall/who lost his life in the sinking of the/SS Lusitania on May 7th 1915/This Tablet is erected by/his wife Margaret

Transcription from pages 16 to 17 of the May 2015 Parish Magazine-

Evan Arthur Leigh was born in Manchester in 1850 and was educated at Mill Hill Public School in north-west London (where he is listed as a distinguished Old Boy). After his education he joined in partnership with his father in the engineering firm of Evan Leigh & Co with premises in Manchester, Liverpool and Boston, Massachusetts.

Evan spent his working life travelling across the Atlantic on a regular basis to oversee the Boston branch of the family firm. In 1883 he married a lady from Birkenhead ten years younger than himself and from then on Margaret accompanied him on his journeys. They purchased a property in Woolaston, a beachfront neighbourhood eight miles outside Boston as their American residence. Evan always travelled with the Cunard Line transatlantic service from Liverpool and always travelled First Class.

The Leighs moved to Grange from Manchester in 1910 purchasing Yewbareow Hall, which later became known as Yewbarrow Lodge. At that time Grange only had nine residences with a telephone line, and the telephone number at Yewbarrow Hall was Grange 30. The Leighs thoroughly participated in Grange life becoming regular members of St Paul's congregation. They allowed their home and gardens to be used regularly for church functions and fund-raisers. Margaret, in particular, was very fond of flowets and sent flowers from her gardens to decorate St Paul's as well as giving monetary donations.

Evan became President of Grange Cricket Club soon after his arrival; however in 1913 because of lack of support, the club's finances were not successful enough to warrant continuing with a further lease on the ground, so the club was disbanded.

In March 1912 the Leighs took their annual visit to Boston, travelling on the RMS Lusitania with Capt Turner. They arrived in New York on the 15th March and checked in to the Belmont Hotel in New York City before travelling on to Boston. It was during this time that Margaret Leigh became very seriously ill and Evan had an anxious voyage home with her in a critical condition. Once back in Yewbarrow Hall, Margaret's health did not improve and she remained an invalid, unable to go out or to see anyone beyond her own household.

On the night of 14th April 1912, the White Star Line RMS Titanic en-route from Southampton to New York, struck an iceberg and sank with the loss of over 1,500 lives. The publicity regarding the inadequate number of lifeboats aboard the Titanic, even though they exceeded the number required by the Board of Trade specifications, resulted in the rules being changed so that every passenger liner was equipped with enough lifeboats to seat every person on board.

Evan Leigh, who had been travelling regularly on passenger liners for most of his life, was instrumental in ensuring that a local branch of the Royal National Lifeboat Institute was established in Grange which it was in 1914 and Evan Arthur Leigh became its first President.

With Margaret in seclusion at Yewbarrow Hall, Evan travelled to the States alone in 1913, aboard the RMS Campania and again in 1914 on the Lusitania with Capt. Turner. In 1915, during wartime, he crossed in the SS Tuscania arriving on the 22nd March 1915 and stayed at the La Plaza Hotel, Boston as by now the Woolaston property had been sold.

It is not surprising that Evan decided to book his return passage home on the Lusitania with his old friend Captain Turner. He reserved a first class en-suite room, No B109 on the promenade deck. His ticket was No. 6347 and he was allocated a personal steward, Mr Thomas Dawes (who also did not survive the sinking).

It is unlikely that Evan was particularly perturbed by the German Government warning printed in the local newspapers that allied shipping was liable to destruction. He had already made one wartime crossing and it was common knowledge that the speed of the Lusitania made it impossible for any U-boat to catch them.

Evan's last moments are unrecorded. The torpedo struck at 2.10pm after lunch followed by a second explosion. His cabin and the first-class dining room were not in the vicinity of the explosion.

Hopefully, he would not have been among the poor souls trapped in the elevators when the electricity failed. Although there had been enough lifeboats for all passengers, the severe listing of the ship prevented most of them from being launched. The Lusitania sank within eighteen minutes.

Survivor's accounts inform us that Alfred Vanderbilt and other men from First Class were up on deck busy strapping lifejackets on to infants when the ship went down. It is quite possible, even likely, that Evan would have been among those men, helping the weakest in their hour of need regardless of his own personal danger.

In January 1918 Margaret Leigh presented St Paul's with the memorial brass commemorating her late husband. In response, the Rev Vickers-Gaskell said that Me Leigh's sad death was a great loss to Grange, and not least to St Paul's, of which he was a staunch and liberal supporter and it was an honour to have this memorial to him in our Church. The brass was originally sited by the font but is now situated on the South Wall next to the bookshelves. Four months later on the 22nd May 1918 Margaret Leigh passed away quietly aged 57 and was laid to rest in her family vault at Birkenshaw, near Bradford. Evan Arthur Leigh's body was never found.

There are significant differences between this memorial (which shows 5 died) and the cross outside (29 casualties). Some of that latter 29 are not even on here as served, conversely there are 11 men shown on here as survived which the external memorial shows as died, so the 2 memorials need to be read together to obtain what is hopefully the whole picture.

NOTE- John William Wilson (of the Coldstream Guards, died 25/11/1917) and G Charnley (Northumberland Fusiliers, died 18/10/1918) are both buried in war graves in the Churchyard.

Revd Theodore Bayley Hardy was born at Exeter in 1863. He was a schoolmaster in Nottingham, and was then ordained in 1898. He then became Headmaster of Bentham Grammar School but retired to be Vicar of Hutton Roof in 1913. He volunteered for service as a Chaplain on the outbreak of war, but was not accepted because of his health until August 1916. He was awarded the VC for rescuing wounded men under heavy fire in 3 separate incidents on 5th, 25th & 27th April 1918. It was awarded by the King on 9th August 1918, and he was appointed 'Chaplain to His Majesty' on 17th September 1918 partly as an attempt to lure him away from the battlefield. However he was killed in action on 18th October 1918 just 3 days before his 55th birthday. He is believed to have been the most decorated non-combatant of the war. Since 1988 there has been a memorial service on the closest Sunday to his death at Hutton Roof Church. A film of his life was made in 2010 by Charlie Shea-Simonds for the Museum of Army Chaplaincy. CROSTHWAITE BRASS & CROSS, TRANSCRIPTION, WW1

The Brass on the south wall is 920mm high x 460mm wide a 10mm thick, on wooden backing 1060mm high x 580mm wide x 70mm thick.

The Westmorland Cross is at the east end of the south wall- It is 1830mm high x 910 mm wide x 100mm thick with each plaque 110mm wide x 35mm high. Until 1998 the cross was outside, it was moved at Easter 1998 to the inside after refurbishment & repair. Local legend is that it was made of oak from the Parish, however it is widely believed that all Westmorland crosees were made at the same works near Kendal, although there is no actual documentary evidence of that.

TO THE GLORY AND MEMORY/OF THE MEN OF THIS PARISH/WHO LAID DOWN THEIR LIVES IN THE WAR/1914-1918 [The foregoing is only on the brass, the battalions when applicable, place & dates of death are only on the cross]

ARNSIDE METHODIST CHURCH WW1 PEACE WINDOW- TRANSCRIPTION

Unveiled by Major Reverend W Rushby, MC, Chaplain to the Forces, on July 10, 1921 it was made by Allen Barrowclough and Josph Newbold Sanders and cost £310.

It has an unusual iconography. St Michael, left, is predictable but Joshua, right, is not. But then he was Moses' right hand man and conquered 'The Kingdom', Canaan, so I guess his purpose here is to signify a biblically righteous military victory. Christ the King whose feet rest on a rainbow is flanked by two angels, that on the left holding a wreath, on the right a lyre. Crouching beside a fountain, below Christ, is a dashing young knight sans arms, his work done.

The window's dedication is;

A Thanks Offering for the Restoration of Peace after the Great War 1914 1918

From a postcard in the Carter postcard collection at the Imperial War Museum we know that this was originally a street shrine.

From the Westmorland Gazette dated 6th January 1917 we know rather more about its origins-

- (1) It was originally mounted on the east wall of St. Thomas's SCHOOL. This was opposite the church on Milnthorpe Market Square and is now 'The Square Dental Practice'. This is only feet away from the permanent memorial and as central a location as Milnthorpe has.
- (2) It was made by Mr GW Wilson (presumably a village man) and the names were painted by Mr GW Wildeman of Kendal
- (3) It was dedicated by Revd C Pickering on 31st December 1916.
- (4) It was paid for by Mrs Seagrave and Dr & Mrs Fuller

Bottom Framed Paper and Ink Explanation of the Colours [paraphrased]- 400mm wide x 430mm high x 25mm thick

Gives historical context-

The cases for the colours were provided in 1930 by donations from the Counties of Cumberland and Westmorland, also from the 2 Regular Battalions and the 2 Territorial Battalions, the Depot and retired officers.

The Regiment was raised in Stirling in 1755 and known until 1757 as the 57th Regiment. It saw service in Ireland, then in America in 1759-1760 at the reduction of Quebec and the Conquest of Canada then Home Service then back to America for the American War of Independence. In 1778-1785 it took part in the Capture of St Lucia and was then garrisoned there. From 1785 to 1804 the Regiment was at Athlone (Ireland) , the West Indies and the Netherlands including the Battle of Bergen-op-Zoom. From 1821 it was at the Cape of Good hope and from 1831 to 1841 in India, taking part in the 1841 China War including the capture of Chusan and the assault on Ching Hiang Fu. From 1854 the Regiment was in the Crimean War including the Battles of Alma and Inkerman and the siege of Sevastapol.. From 1865 it was stationed in India including the operations against the Bhutias. From 1876 to 1881 the regiment was in the UK. In 1881 it was merged with the 34th Regiment to form the 2nd Battalion Border Regiment.

The Colours are-

- 1) 1756-1801-these are painted, not embroidered and were found in the late 19th century in a pawn shop
- 2) 1801-1814. They were presented by Colonel Donald McDonald in Guernsey on 4th June 1801 and were painted to commemorate the Union with Ireland. At the Battle of Bergen-op-Zoom the colours were torn off their poles and wrapped round the bodies of 2 ensigns to prevent their capture
- 3) 1814-1834-presented at Harwich 16th July 1814
- 4) 1834-1850-presented in the East Indies
- 5) 1850-1888-presented by HRH Prince George in Phoenix Park, Dublin 27th March 1850

The WW1 Roll of Honour in Calligraphy in the Wooden Case was made by Lieut John Watton, a well known Kendal Artist and Sculptor. He was captured in June 1940 at Dunkirk and was a prisoner at Colditz.

The modern Roll of Honour (typescript in a file on the top of the case) was presented in 2013.
